

Managing Partner Shares Expertise on Family Business Operations; Scott Friedman Presents to American Society of Women Accountants

June 19, 2012 | PRESS RELEASES

BUFFALO, NY- The Managing Partner of Lippes Mathias Wexler Friedman LLP, Scott E. Friedman, presented to a group of women accountants, members of ASWA, at an annual conference held on June 15, and organized by the accounting firm, Chiampou Travis Besaw & Kershner LLP.

Mr. Friedman was invited to participate as a guest lecturer on the topic of successful practices with a family-run business because of his thorough knowledge on the subject as a result of experiences within his own family. He has authored four books on the subject, and is currently working in the writing stages of his fifth book.

- "How to Run a Family Business" by Michael Friedman & Scott Friedman
- "Secrets from the Delphi Cafe?: Unlocking the Code to Happiness" by Scott Friedman & Bob Rich
- "How to Profit by Forming Your Own Limited Liability Company" by Scott Friedman
- "The Successful Family Business" by Scott Friedman

An integral component of the presentation is a concept developed by Mr. Friedman himself, known as the 'Family Business Scorecard.' The scorecard serves as a method of evaluation for members of a family-run business to help distinguish successful and failing behaviors.

LMWF law firm was founded in 1965 and is a broadly-based practice with emphasis in the areas of business and financial transactions, litigation, commercial real estate and development, immigration, employee benefits and employment practices, estate planning, and intellectual property.
